

DOUBLE DROP

"Think Utah Jazz played with live instruments and incorporating a London twist for good measure" - The Digital Fix

Double Drop have rapidly gained a reputation as one of the most exciting new live electronic/bass music acts in London today. Their ability to perform 100% live without the need for a backing track is what has seen them quickly become a recognised and respected outfit.

Double Drop are a live band playing real instruments in real time to create a real movement. They are 7 musicians who together write music you would usually expect from a computer-based producer. Their shows are a unique experience, each track flowing seamlessly into the next as if they were the slickest of DJ's. Taking to the stage at infamous London venues Cargo, Brixton Jamm, Hootananny and Lovebox festival, supporting the likes of Submotion Orchestra and Jazzsteppa so early into their career has firmly established them as an enthralling live act.

2012 saw the release of their debut EP throughout which they effortlessly combine their love and knowledge for hip-hop, jazz, dubstep and drum & bass, with a collection of carefully sculpted sounds and samples to create music not restricted by computers, but entirely organic. Produced to reflect the intimate atmosphere experienced during their live shows, the Double Drop EP invites the listener on a sonic journey where pulsating synths and tasteful delays meet live drums and acoustic pianos all the while being gifted with mesmerising vocals and emphatic inner city sax. The flips in musical styles throughout and subsequent shifts in energy make this EP something of a musical time lapse.

During the summer 2013 Double Drop have performed at various venues and festivals across the UK including the one and only Glastonbury festival where they appeared alongside Goldie and Norman Jay on the Hell Stage in Shangri-La (3000+ capacity).

Whilst gigging continuously Double Drop are currently working on a new single to be released in spring 2014.
